OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

"LET THERE BE LIGHT" probably should be the title for the long-run "dramatic" production of the Campbell JayCees on which the curtain finally dropped at the last City Council meeting when by a 3-2 vote the Council approved the first official entrance sign for the city.

The sign, which was designed and will be constructed by the JayCees as one of their civic projects, will be placed on the median strip on W. Hamilton Ave.

It will be a redwood arched affair, plasticized and illuminated.

Ordinarily when any civic organization wishes to make a contribution to the city the "gift" is accepted swiftly, graciously and enthusiastically.

But this was not an ordinary situation. It is unfair for critics to berate the City Council for its slowness in accepting the sign-gift or to make snide remarks on the theme of "watta ya have to do to give somethin' away around here?"

It wasn't quite as simple as it appears.

-0-

FIRST, IT MUST BE REmembered, that this first sign is intended to be the model for all the entrance signs that will eventually be put in place.

So you are not just talking about one sign but about a sort of city "trade-mark" that will mark the entrances to the town in six or seven spots.

Therefore, why shouldn't the city fathers take their own sweet time on deciding whether the design was appropriate?

Personally we thought the proposed sign is both attractive and well designed. We were for it from the start.

To begin with we have no idea how to design a sign in the first place and the JayCees were fortunate in having a guy like Dave Norman in their group who is a pro in the sign-field.

But just because we liked the design, we found no fault with those who had a different idea, especially the councilmen who had to officially authorize it.

-0-

YOU MAY RECALL that the cost was an important consideration in the beginning.

It was estimated that it would cost $3000 to put in the electrical work needed, a sizeable amount for one sign, especially when at budget time the Council was cutting and not adding.

When it became known that the cost would only be $536 instead of $3000, then that particular problem was reduced proportionally.

Councilmen Ed Rogers and Mayor Homer Hyde were sincerely convinced that illumination was not the way to go and Rogers was also concerned over possible vandalism.

What we are trying to put across in this long-winded manner is to correct any misunderstanding that might have arisen in some of your minds about the city's attitude in accepting contributions from civic groups or individuals.

It is not a negative attitude in any shape or form.

Although in this case we disagree with Homer and Ed, the fact remains that we are all for 'em in their analysis of all aspects of a sort of sticky situation.

Many people probably felt it should have been accepted without hesitation and a commendation given the JayCees for their civic pride.

The JayCees should be and were commended for their efforts.

But, in this case there was absolutely nothing wrong in looking a gift horse in the mouth, to coin a brand new phrase, especially when that horse is going to be around

Campbell elementary on Sept. 10

Four schools get new principals

Four of the 19 schools in the Campbell Union (elementary) District that will open their doors for a full day of instruction on Wednesday, Sept. 10, will have changes in principals this year, according to Neal Royer, district superintendent.

The district administration office estimates the district enrollment to be approximately 11,200, only a slight increase over the closing student load in June of 11,200.

All district employees, including approximately 470 classroom teachers plus administrators and non-certificate personnel assembled on Tuesday (Sept. 2) at the Plaza Theater for their annual orientation.

Approximately 750 are employed by the district representing an annual payroll in excess of $5 million.

The four changes in principals include Donald Bergstrom at Blackford; Charles Reed, Hamilton; Claude Walsh, Marshall Lane and Robert Turk, Rosemary.

Bergstrom, the new Blackford principal, who resides at 5462 Harwood Ave., San Jose. was vice-principal of Blackford last year and takes the place of Wayne Fontes, who has left the district.

Charles Reed, of 110 Cardinal Lane, Los Gatos, who takes over at Hamilton, was vice-principal of Rolling Hills last year. He succeeds Claude Walsh, of 15525 Winchester Blvd., Los Gatos, who was principal of Hamilton last year and will be principal of Marshall Lane this year, succeeding Tony Perreira who has been transferred to the central office as Coordinator of Special Education.

Robert Turk, of 2078 Anthony Dr., Campbell, the new principal of Rosemary, served as vice-principal of Campbell Elementary last year.

Turk succeeds George Ingram who has left the district.

Principals of the other schools are: Campbell Elementary, Mrs. Dorothy Sutter; Capri, Mark Jennings; Castlemont, David MacLeod; Cypress, Ralph Dill; Dover, Ernest Rideout; Forest Hill, Frederick Peterson; Hazelwood, Anthony Van Laarhoven; Lynhaven, Miss Kathyrn Merry; Monroe, Robert Downing; Moorpark, David Gillies; Parkway, Kenneth Meinecke; Quito, Galen Wilcox; Rolling Hills, Bruce Stevenson; San Tomas, Richard Leyva; Sherman Oaks, Adrian Cibilich.

Other changes in administrative assignments include Helen Peterson returning to classroom position from special education; Mary Pimental from vice-principal Blackford to classroom; Stan Johnson from classroom to vice-principal Blackford; Jim Bryan

District high administrators change jobs as school opens

Several administrative changes have been announced by Dr. Nicholas R. Montesano, district superintendent for the Campbell Union High School district, with the opening of school Sept. 10.

Robert K. Peck will take over the position of principal of the Campbell High School formerly filled by Robert Culp who will be working with the district during the coming year as a principal at large.

Culp will be in charge of the district recreational program, the attendance supervisors and be working closely with all school deans and directors of activities in an effort to glean the best from each high school and incorporate it in the overall district. Culp was chosen for the position this year because he had been principal of Campbell High School for 12 years and with the district for 21 years.

It is planned that the position will be rotated on a yearly basis between all nine high school principals.

Peck comes to Campbell High School from Williams High School, where he was a teaching principal at the vocational school for a year. He

Residents buck proposed "loop"

A number of residents (particularly on Second Street) were reported to be up in arms this week over the proposed "North Loop Street". They are expected to appear, armed with petitions, at the first public hearing on the proposed plan line which is scheduled by the Planning Commission on Monday, Sept. 15.

After almost two years of research and study by the city staff and with the approval of the Downtown Redevelopment Committee, the plan line for the street was "unveiled" last week.

The plan line must be set in order for the city to proceed with the construction of the new civic center complex which will be located on the loop which would be 295-feet north of the center line of Campbell Ave.

The proposed street would leave Campbell Ave. at Third St. (between Bank of America and Blendwell) and come back to Campbell Ave. across the tracks at the Humble Oil gas station.

Council to hear of mini-bus plan

A report on the possibility of establishing a mini-bus system for the service of senior citizens in the area is on the City Council's agenda for next Monday night, Sept. 8.

In a letter to the City Council, Mrs. Irma Reese, president of West Valley Senior Citizens Action Center, explains that her organization is exploring all the facets of a plan that would mean the establishment of a route for a small bus for the benefit of the elderly who in many cases are without transportation.

Also on the relatively light agenda that faces the City Council on Monday is the recommendation of the Planning Commission for the establishment of a neighborhood land use plan for the White Oaks-Bascom area.

The Planning Commission made its recommendation after hearing reports from the planning departments of both the city and the county. Basically the only difference between the county and city was that the city suggests that White Oaks become a cul-de-sac. The county study also included a much wider area than the city report.

In a related matter, the Council is also scheduled to consider the pre-zoning of an area along Bascom and Shelley that is in the process of being annexed to the city. The Council is also slated to take action on that annexation as well as for another parcel in the McGlincey area.

Up the creek

Without a paddle

A new route was found Saturday to beat the heavy traffic on the highway...Travel by waterway...

But it is not recommended for the average motorist...Even trucks have their problems.

Los Gatos Creek, north of the bridge on Hamilton Ave., on Saturday morning became a highway of sorts as a convoy of three tow trucks from Courtesy Chevrolet made their way downstream (as the accompanying pictures reveal).

Spectators who lined the banks might have thought they were seeing a Mississippi River barge convoy in action as they watched the tow trucks move through the water.

Two of the trucks were there by direction.

But not the other one.

Here is the way the Campbell police reconstruct the unique situation.

At about 4 a.m. Saturday, William Herbert Hamilton, Jr., 25, of 1158 Garfield Ave., San Jose, driving a 1967 one-ton tow truck for Courtesy Chevrolet of San Jose, was driving west on Hamilton Ave.

Hamilton reported to the police that at the bridge, a car passed him going at an excessive speed causing him to swerve to the right.

The tow truck went through the wooden barricade on the Los Gatos Creek bank and over a 50-foot "cliff" into about three feet of water. The truck, although landing upright on the creek bed, was totally damaged as a result of its impromptu entry into the water.

Hamilton was not injured.

In the daylight hours another tow truck was dispatched to the scene to remove the damaged truck, entering from the PG&E right-of-way on the north.

Upon reaching the first truck, the second one became stuck.

Success came when a third vehicle was sent out.

Cables were attached to the first two and slowly the caravan made its way down the creek and to a nice conventional roadway.

$280,000 project in "The Pruneyard"

Work starts on theaters

Building in Campbell which has been in a long drawn-out slump this year took a turn upwards last Friday when Wally Byron, city building official, issued a building permit for $280,000 to Fred Sahadi for the construction of three theaters in "The Pruneyard" center at Bascom and Campbell avenues.

The theaters, located adjacent to "The Towers", 18-story office building being constructed by Sahadi and Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. that is expected to be completed by December, will be the first phase of "The Pruneyard" which will include retail outlets, all developed in the early California style.

The theaters involve about 23,000 square feet of building area with a common lobby for all three showhouses.

Byron said that the plans call for stucco front and arched entrance way with a Spanish tile roof. The interior will feature open beamed ceiling of heavy timbers.

Construction has already started on the theaters and in the meantime the improvement of Bascom Ave. from Bascom to the freeway is at its peak.

Bascom will be widened to six moving traffic lanes and Campbell Ave. to four under the street improvement project (LID No. 18), the largest in this city's history totaling more than $500,000.

Two residential street projects to cost $149,955

Two sub-standard residential streets (Sunnyside and Kennedy) will be improved at at cost of $149,955.19 through the cooperation of the city and property owners involved.

Last Thursday the City Council awarded the contract for the construction to the Leo F. Piazza Co. on a low bid of $98,707.40, just $53.30 less than the second bidder for the job (A. F. Raisch Co.). Two other bids were submitted.

In addition to the actual construction work, other expenses involved in the project (water meter relocations, fire mains, land acquisition, incidentals and contingencies) raise the total cost to $149,955.19. (A local improvement district (LID No. 20) has been formed for the job.)

Of that amount (under the city's two-thirds - one-third formula), the city will pick up the tab for $102,646.14 and the property owners will foot the bill for $38,309.05. The city's share will come from the street improvement bond funds approved in Oct. 1967.

The Sunnyside-Kennedy project is the second residential street project undertaken in this manner. Rincon Ave. was the first.

Both Kennedy and Sunnyside, from Winchester to the railroad tracks, will be improved to 40-feet in width with curbs, gutters and sidewalks, allowing for two traffic lanes and two parking lanes. A total of 58 parcels are involved with 33 on Sunnyside and 25 on Kennedy.

Storm drains will also be installed that will allow the area to be drained into the main line at Rincon and First. At the present time, PG&E is relocating the poles on the streets and will also relocate the gas mains. The water company is also relocating its mains.

Police dogs used to trail assailant

Campbell police brought in a dog unit last week in an attempt to find the man who hid in the back seat of a car with possible sexual assault in mind. Gale Smith, a clerk at Sears, stopped at the San Tomas Expressway and Hamilton Ave. while on her way home and became aware that a man was hidden in the back seat of her car.

The man, wearing a nylon pulled over his face, attempted to grab Miss Smith, who jumped out of the car, and started screaming for help. The assailant then sped off in her car, which the latter found abandoned at the dead end of Bismark Ave.

Two guns were stolen from local homes during the last week; one from 190 N. Harrison and one from 980 Sobrato Drive.

A car belonging to Mary T. Navarro, parked at 1027 Boise, was broken into and $98 worth of bras stolen.

Richard S. Bibbins found that his truck, parked on McGlincey Lane overnight, was minus clearance lights, air horn and fuel caps, all valued at $176.

County bond issues

Additional property taxes, a raise in sales tax and $56 million in general obligation bonds to pay for expanded parks and recreation facilities, new public safety and health facilities and a county-wide transit system all face voters on Sept. 16.

This is the second of informative "editorials" presented by The Press. (Measure C was described last week.)

This week Measure B, a proposal for new health, youth and safety facilities.

A two-thirds majority vote is necessary on Measures B and C – the general obligation bonds – to obtain $41 million for the building program and $15.3 million for the development of parks and recreation facilities.

The county-wide transit district authorization, Measure A, would be financed by a one-half per cent increase in sales tax, similar to the device being used to pay for the BART system.

Measure C, discussed last week, is for the expansion and development of over 10,450 acres in county parks.

The financial plan for Measure C is to sell $15.3 million in bonds, with repayment of the bonds supported by a special property tax, no higher than five cents per $100 assessed valuation, spread over a 20 year period.

The anticipated top tax rate addition would probably be slightly under 4.5 cents, according to Harold Watkins, special assistant to the board of supervisors.

Financing for Measure B is somewhat more complicated, involving the original sale of $41 million in bonds, with repayment based on a current sales tax percentage.

Spokesmen for the county supervisors stressed that funds to repay the bonds will come from existing sources, with no additional taxation from any source.

The county currently receives one per cent of the state's five per cent sales tax from all unincorporated areas plus about 7½ per cent of one per cent from the unincorporated parts of the county.

The money from this source of revenue has traditionally gone into a pay-as-you-go building program, but supervisors are anxious to end the $240,000 per year rental fees they pay for various buildings, avoid an estimated five per cent annual increase in construction fees and begin building in preparation for county needs a few years from now.

Officials estimate county population will be nearly 1½ million people in 11 years.

The special system for repayment of the building program bonds can be divided into three sections:

1. Expansion of a medical research laboratory at the Valley Medical Center, costing $1,373,000. Bond repayment would be financed through the rental fees for the space paid by the Santa Clara County Medical Research Institute.

2. Expansion of the Valley Medical Center, including general upgrading of the facilities. Total cost: $7,769,000.

3. Everything else, including rehabilitation centers for youths and adults, jails, court space, law space, animal shelters, general office space and emergency communications facilities, costing $31,777,000. These bonds will be repaid from existing sales tax revenue.

Of the nearly $41,000,000 total, $5,416,000 is designated for juvenile-oriented programs; $10,665,000 for medical and health facilities; $194,000 for animal shelters; $8,430,000 for courts and related works; $4,190,000 for jails and adult rehabilitation centers; $11,464,000 for general office space for county officials and services and $521,000 for emergency communications centers.

Proponents of Measure B point out the county is currently paying $240,000 per year in rental fees and several facilities are still overcrowded or cannot be rented.

A breakdown of the planned expansions:

 Expansion of the Juvenile Center at the Civic Center by adding a three-classroom addition to Osborn School, expanded the boys' receiving space, add two second floors for detention wings and add space for storage – $1,397,000.

 Acquire land for a branch juvenile center in the north county for construction about 1975 – $500,000.

 Expand the present Girls' Ranch No. 1 from 32 girls to 48 girls, with appropriate classrooms, housing quarters and storage; state aid for construction should be available – $193,000.

 Acquire land for Girls' Ranch No. 2 for construction in 1975 to house 48 girls – $50,000.

 Add classrooms and expand recreation rooms at both Boys' Ranch No. 1 and No. 2; also enlarge Ranch No. 2 from 54 to 80 boys – $387,000.

 Construction of Boys' Ranch No. 3 in 1973 to house 80 boys – $1,201,000.

 Acquire land somewhere in south county for Boys' Ranch No. 4 – $350,000.

 Expansion of Children's Shelter No. 1 to house 86, rather than the current 70 – $208,000.

 An addition to the Sunnyvale (El Camino Real) branch of the Public Health and Mental Health clinics is necessary – $319,000.

 Replacement and enlargement of the south county animal shelter – $194,000.

 Construction of a high-rise building between the present county buildings on Hedding Street in San Jose to accommodate five additional municipal court departments, two additional superior-criminal court departments, and increases in the municipal court clerk, the court administrator, county clerk, jury assembly, district attorney, adult probation and sheriff's departments – $5,442,000.

 Completion of two courts on the fourth floor of the Municipal Court building, Civic Center – $170,000.

 Completion of two courts on the first floor, Municipal Court Building, Civic Center – $186,000.

 After courts' construction is completed, it will be necessary to remodel the criminal-legal office wing in the Civic Center and reshuffle the offices for maximum use – $74,000.

 Renovation of the Old Court House to provide five court rooms for the Superior Court center – $584,000.

 Acquisition of property next to the above mentioned Superior Court center for possible future expansion of the courts – $660,000.

 Construction of a second, permanent municipal court department and office building, and facilities for a third department on a part-time basis by 1980 in the west valley – $706,000.

 Construction of a court house in Morgan Hill for county facilities by 1980 – $414,000.

 Construction of a court house in Gilroy or a suitable addition to the present facilities – $194,000.

 Completion of the third floor in the main jail to increase maximum and medium security cells from 447 to 601 by 1980 – $397,000.

 Remodel the crime lab area in the main jail – $295,000.

 Expansion of the north county jail from space for 24 to 40 prisoners – $121,000.

 Build dormitory and other wings to expand the women's jail at Elmwood for facilities for 102 by 1970 – $247,000.

 Expansion of the men's barracks at Elmwood for a maximum capacity of 700 by 1970 – $232,000.

 Expansion of the dining and recreation buildings for both men and women at Elmwood – $338,000.

 Construction of a second rehabilitation center in the south county for ultimate capacity of 700; money for land acquisition ($550,000) is already set aside by supervisors; construction to begin by 1972 – $2,500,000.

 Construction of a ten or more floor high-rise general office building as part of the Civic Center by 1980 – $7,796,000.

 Construction of a multi-level parking garage to go with that new office building – $3,667.000.

 Expansion of the county Communications Center and Emergency Operations - Civil Defense departments – federal funding may be available for half of the cost – $521,000.

What paper do you read?

Those who read The Campbell Press and the San Jose metropolitan press last week were possibly confused by the reports in the two newspapers of the city tax rate that was established by the City Council.

Those readers had a right to be confused.

The San Jose news media reported that the City of Campbell had raised the tax rate 25-cents over the rate of the previous year.

The Campbell Press reported that the City Council had held the same tax rate as the previous year.

In a way both papers were right. But the readers were caught in the middle.

The City Council last week established $1.07 per $100 assessed valuation as the city tax for "operational purposes", the same rate that has been in effect for the past nine years.

But the bond redemption tax, based on the civic improvement bonds that were voted in Oct. 1967 and sold last year, went to 60 cents from 35 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

True, as the San Jose newspapers put it, the City Council raised the rate. But, even as the most naive newspaperman of the metropolitan press must have been aware, there was no choice in the matter.

As a matter of fact, the operational tax rate of $1.07 this year is two cents less than the same rate of the previous year because the two-cent tax heretofore placed on household furnishings has been removed.

But to report that $1.07 is two cents less than $1.07 would confuse matters even more.

AS SORT OF AN ANTI-climax, when the City Council finally approved the sign by a 3-2 vote (Incidentally, a couple of the majority sort of hesitated before voting for it.) special action by resolution had to be taken to allocate the dough, for the money had not been budgeted for the fiscal year.

However, just a few minutes before the action on the sign, the final budget had been adopted.

So, the City of Campbell's first entrance sign has another distinction.

It is the first item for the new fiscal year (1969-70) to be allocated from the unallocated funds.

GENERALLY WE PREfer to run "letters-to-the-editor" under a special heading.

But often your editor is the main target of the letter-writer, so we think it is more apropos to let the party "chop-at-the-limb" right smack dab in this column.

Take the following letter as an example:

"To the Editor of the Campbell Press:

"Sir:

"I am getting tired of having my street (Dillon) referred to as notorious.

"There are nice homes and nice people living on these 3 streets (Railway, Dillon and Gilman) that pay just as much taxes as anyone.

"Why do you have a business on notorious Dillon?

"You write of having pride in our city.

"Show a little

"We haven't been cut off from the city yet. We've been called most everything.

"Campbell uses their cut of our taxes gladly.

"Mrs. Hazel L. Nelson
243 Dillon Ave."

O.K., Vierhus, back to that old reference book "How to Win Friends and Influence People".

It looks as if we might need help along those lines right in our own neighborhood.

We goofed somewhere down the line.

THAT WE "GOOFED" brings us right into the next paragraph.

If there was any question about the pulling power of the advertising in The Campbell Press, it has been disspelled because of an ad that The Press ran for some of our own "merchandise".

You probably saw it...It was headed "WE GOOFED".

The ad explained that through an astronomical (outer space would be more like it) misunderstanding 5000 padded scratch pads were made up in the back shop.

The customer ordered 50!

To complicate matters even more, these pads just have to be classified as "mini-pads", for the customer wanted a special size, 2-inches by 2½-inches.

SO - - - there was on hand an ample supply for any re-ordering, something like 4950.

Anyway after the "WE GOOFED" ad was run the first time, there was a fairly steady stream of customers for the mini-pads that are on sale for 40 cents per pound, which is about cost for this monumental error.

PROSPECTIVE ADVERTISERS PLEASE NOTE:

The response of the ad was so good that there is a darn good chance that the mini-pads may be gone in this decade.

They really are cute-looking little jobs.

Except there ARE so many of 'em around.

WHERE THE ACTION IS was the heading of the pictures and story about the activities that are currently taking place on and just off Bascom Ave. in the vicinity of Campbell Ave.

This week actual construction started on the three theaters that will be the first phase of the multi-million dollar "The Pruneyard", the commercial-cultural center adjacent to "The Towers", Campbell's 18-story landmark.

When the Bascom Ave. street improvement project is completed there will be six moving lanes of traffic from Hamilton to the city limits.

Most of the utility poles that now line Bascom will go underground eventually.

But, because of time problems, this will not happen until the paving has been completed. So the poles will actually be located in the traffic lanes for a period of time.

We envisioned cars clipping 'em off like crazy.

But Bill Wren, the city's public works director says, that the poles will be adequately barricaded.

Whatever that means.

Peck received his teaching degree in the vocational arts field from Chico State College. He taught at the College of Marin and later was with the U. S. Navy as a teaching principal in the overseas military dependent school in the Philippines, Japan and Iceland.

Married, he has two children, Michael, a freshman at West Valley College and Kathie who is working for her BA degree at Chico State College. He and his wife Jean have recently purchased a home in Campbell, close enough so that Peck can walk to school.

Other changes in the administration level include Edmond B. Bullard, former superintendent of Gilroy Unified School District, in the position of administrative assistant to the superintendent.

Robert Landreth has been named to the position of director of education at Del Mar High School; Warren Glaze, director of education, Blackford High School and a new position, director of student services at Leigh High School, has been filled by Richard Robbins.

Robbins will be serving as an over-all coordinator of student services at Leigh High while a new concept in student counseling will find the counselors working with the same alphabetical group of students all the way through high school, instead of on a one year basis.

Football teams are already practicing, as are marching bands, flag girls and other drill groups in all of the schools of the district.

School will open at 8 a.m. Wed., Sept. 10 with an anticipated enrollment of 14,000 in the nine high schools,

Eight new teachers will be at Campbell High School with four other teachers being transferred from other schools.

James D'Avis, assistant superintendent, reports that all principals, vice-principals and central administrators have completed a course of instruction in Administrative In-service offered by the Campbell Police Department under Police Chief John Morgan. The course included riding in patrol cars with city police officers during the evening hours.

District administrators also spent the month of August preparing equipment, instructional materials and completing plans for the school year.

Superintendent Royer said that food service facilities are ready to serve hot lunches in all schools and it is expected that about 5000 lunches will be served on the first day of the new term.

The district will use 11 school buses in transporting those youngsters who live in unsafe or more distant areas from the schools. Parents have been notified by mail of the bus stops.

According to Royer, 50 youngsters will receive care in the newly-opened Children's Center which is being operated for the first time this year in conjunction with the Moorpark School.

Children of eligible working parents will be able to attend the center from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily with educational training being provided by the regular day classes at Moorpark School for those of school age.

Goldman's enjoy European trip

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Goldman of North Second St. have returned home after visiting in Europe for the last three months.

The Goldman's, who recently retired from the dry goods business with the sale of their Golden Rule Department Store, took a well earned vacation. Flying to London, they spent seven days visiting in the old capitol of England before going on to Amsterdam and Stockholm, Sweden.

The Goldman's visited with relatives and friends while in Sweden and took time out to really explore the country and visit places they had not been able to see before.

Goldman returned home earlier than Mrs. Goldman who stayed on for a family wedding. On his way home he stopped over in New York for four days, and found the big city sweltering hot.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd exchange vows in recent ceremony

MR. AND MRS. STEVEN BOYD

Rings and vows were exchanged recently at the Hope Lutheran Church in Santa Clara when Janet Marie Burton became the bride of Steven Paul Boyd.

The lovely blonde bride chose a wedding gown of Chantilly lace and organza, with a portrait neckline and bell styled three-quarter length lace sleeves fashioned with a flared flange. The empire line gown featured a lace chapel length peacock shaped train with lace appliques in a garland trim on the front of the organza skirt. Scattered seed pearls accented the empire line gown and her bouffant elbow length veil of imported silk illusion was held with a contoured halo headpiece of lace leaves and silk flowers.

For her bridal bouquet Janet carried a cascade of stephanotis on a small white Bible centered with two white orchids.

Shades of tangerine were worn by the two bridal attendants, Miss Linda Pierce as maid of honor and Mrs. Dennis Beard as bridesmaid. The floor length identical gowns were fashioned with a slim silhouette style, shallow scoop neckline and short sleeves. A gathered back panel with square cut neckline gave added interest, while their shoulder length veils were held with contoured headpieces of material loops and lilies of the valley matching the gowns. Both attendants carried cascades of white carnations tipped with the tangerine color.

Little Miss Deanne DeVries in her role as flower girl, wore a floor length dress identical to the bridesmaids and carried a basket of tangerine tipped carnations. Officiating at the guest book was the bride's cousin, Nancy Pierce, who wore a gown matching the bridal attendants. She also passed out tangerine colored favors during the reception.

Janet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burton of Colombo Drive. An alumni of Campbell High School, she was a member of the Campbell High marching band and a YFU foreign exchange student. She attended the University of Santa Clara during the last year. Her two brothers, Richard and Kenneth both graduated from Campbell High School.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Burton chose a butter yellow embroidered organza dress with matching accessories and white orchid corsage.

Steven is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Knudsvig of Billings, Montana. He is presently serving with the rank of a sergeant in aviation. He is presently stationed in Salinas. A 1966 graduate of Billings High School, he was active in football and basketball. He is the brother of Linda, Jackie, Carol, Rick, Jim, Dan and Patricia. Mrs. Knudsvig wore a pale green dress with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Scott Barnett served as Steven's best man while the guests were ushered to their seats by Ken and Richard Burton and Dennis Beard. Singing "The Lord's Prayer" was Gerald Lysne. The church decorations of tangerine glads and white stephanotis carried out the bridal color scheme.

Following the wedding ceremony the new Mr. and Mrs. Boyd greeted their guests at the Berry Farm where champagne punch and a selection of hot and cold hors d'oeuvres were served and the three tiered wedding cake cut.

Before leaving on their wedding trip to Southern California the new Mrs. Boyd changed into a red, white and navy knit dress with red accessories. The newly-weds will be making their future home in Salinas.

WVC trustee board move closes student communication gap

During a recent West Valley College Board of Trustees meeting members voted amendments to four board policies, all having to do with students' rights and freedoms. The action came after more than three months of study by students, faculty and the president of the college.

Trustees generally agreed on the major premises of the four policies with only minor questions on various sections. The four policies included: a statement of student rights and freedoms, distribution of literature for students on district property, guest speakers on campus, and a code of student conduct.

The areas of concern were first brought to the board in June by Pete Gregerson, then associated student body president. Gregerson, present ASB president Gary Hansen, other students, faculty and Dr. Wallace Hall, president/superintendent of the college, have been working on the proposals since then.

This is the second major step taken to relieve "lack of communication" according to Hansen. The board gave the president of the Student Body a special seat at the board table shortly after the student elections last spring.

After the meeting Hansen remarked "with these four policies and the seat at the board table we are now one of the most advanced student governments in any junior college in the nation". He expressed great pleasure that the board had been so receptive to all the proposals presented.

One of the most important pending matters before Congress is a constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college and substitute direct election of a President.

In February of this year, I wrote of the shortcomings of a popular vote system and suggested an alternative method. I have since changed my opinion and now intend to support the amendment calling for direct election. The reason for my change of heart can be found in the questions and answers which appear below.

QUESTION: Would direct popular election lead to a splintering of the two-party system?

ANSWER: No. The simplest way to splinter parties would be to offer a share of power to factions in proportion to their relative strength. The new method would require a 40% plurality as a further safeguard against party proliferation. This would encourage potential splinter groups to operate within the framework of the two-party system, since no minor party could reasonably hope to win 40% of the popular vote. At present, third parties are encouraged to enter close Presidential contests in the hope of playing a balance of power role–as in 1948 and again in 1968.

QUESTION: What effect would direct election have on our federal system?

ANSWER: Direct election is perfectly consistent with the constitutional principle of federalism, which recognizes the dual existence of the states and the national government as separate entities. The Presidency, within this constitutional framework, is a national office. Therefore, the choice of a President should rest with all of the people.

QUESTION: How would direct popular election affect the distribution of political power between large and small states?

ANSWER: The present ratio of electoral votes to population indicates that the smaller states have a mathematical advantage. In Alaska one electoral vote represents 75,380 people, while in California one electoral vote represents 392,930 people. Direct popular election's greatest merit is the fact that it eliminates all of the weighted factors in the election process.

QUESTION: Would popular election produce delay and uncertain results?

ANSWER: The vote counting mechanics would be exactly the same as those now used in elections for Governors and United States Senators.

QUESTION: What about incentive for fraud?

ANSWER: It is the present system that encourages voting irregularities because a handful of fraudulently procured popular votes can determine the outcome of a large bloc of electoral votes. Who can forget Illinois in 1960?

QUESTION: Will direct election mean federal control and regulation?

ANSWER: The manner of holding elections would be prescribed by state legislatures.

QUESTION: Won't the ten largest states dictate the outcome of an election?

ANSWER: Only if every voter in the ten largest states votes for the same candidate. Historically election results are most evenly divided in large states.

QUESTION: Would the district plan correct the present system?

ANSWER: In terms of more accurately reflecting the popular will, the district plan represents no improvement. It merely shifts the "winner-take-all" formula from states to electoral districts.

Edward N. Glaeser, Tax Collector of the County of Santa Clara, State of California, being first duly sworn upon oath, deposes and says:

Real property sold to the State may be redeemed by payment of all unpaid taxes and assessments together with such additional penalties and fees as prescribed by law, or may be redeemed under an installment plan of redemption.

All information concerning redemption, or the initiation of an installment plan of redemption of tax-sold property will, upon request, be furnished by L. E. Engeman, Tax Collector and Redemption Officer, Rm 107, County Administration Building, San Jose, California.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

Medicare benefits are payable at 65, even if a person continues to work full time and is not collecting his social security benefits.

"People nearing 65, whether or not they plan to retire, should visit the San Jose Social Security Office," John J. Cassidy, District Manager, said. It is important, he noted, to apply during the three months before you reach 65, to be sure that your Medicare protection will begin as soon as you reach 65. Otherwise, you may lose coverage of some of your medical bills.

Cassidy explained that Medicare is divided into two parts. "One part is hospital insurance," he said. "This is paid from social security contributions made during your working lifetime. Virtually every employed person now reaching 65 is eligible for and has paid for hospital insurance protection. And, if a worker is eligible, so is his wife at age 65.

"This part of Medicare helps pay for your care in a hospital and for certain kinds of care you may need after you leave the hospital.

"But that is only half of the Medicare story," Cassidy continued. "The other half is the supplementary medical insurance that helps pay doctors' and surgeons' bills and a wide variety of other medical expenses. You pay half the cost of the medical insurance through a premium of $4 a month. The Government pays the other half. It is particularly important that you apply for your medical insurance coverage before you reach 65, since this is a voluntary program with limited enrollment periods," said Cassidy.

Cassidy said doctor bills are the main medical expense covered by this insurance. However, he added, medical insurance under Medicare covers many other medical services and supplies. These range from home health care visits to ambulance service and the rental or purchase of durable medical equipment.

Cassidy urges those who want more information about Medicare, and those who are nearing 65, to visit his office at 500 South First St. in San Jose. For the convenience of those people unable to come to the office during the day, the San Jose office remains open until 7:30 p.m. on Thursdays.

MODELERS FROM ALL OVER STATE WATCH ANNUAL EVENT

Model boat enthusiasts hold annual meet on pond in county park in Campbell

Members of the Marine Modelers of Santa Clara Valley were hosts to the annual model boat regatta of the Western Association of Modelers on Saturday and Sunday at the county park in Campbell.

Model boat enthusiasts from all over the state assembled at the percolation ponds at the park for the time trials on Saturday and for the races held on the same course on Sunday.

The Modelers of Santa Clara Valley, composed of about 20 members, meet monthly in the Salinas Valley Savings and Loan building. Each Sunday some of the members gather at the perc ponds to run their boats. About seven of the group reside in the Campbell area with the balance of the membership from other communities in the valley.

During the Saturday time trials, one world record and two west coast speed records were set by the modelers.

Jim Whitchlet of Los Angeles sent his craft (60-class) over the course at 51 MPH and also it shot around the one-quarter mile oval course at 27 MPH to highlight the annual event.

On Sunday, 66 boats participated in the multi-boat races with a good-sized crowd watching the action from the pond banks.

Three members of the local group placed in the meet.

Dick Rowley picked up third place in the 40-class ski-boat division; Frank Snowden took a second in the 60-class ski-boat and Ernie Joboneta placed second in the 60-class hydro.

There were five classes for the Sunday event, A, B, and C for the mono-planes and B and C for hydro-planes.

Former Kennedy press secretary to speak here

An "inside look" at life in the nation's capitol will be given when syndicated columnist Frank Mankiewicz speaks Sept. 23, at West Valley College.

Mankiewicz, 45, press secretary to the late Senator Robert Kennedy, will speak on life "Inside Washington" during a scheduled two-hour appearance at the Campbell campus of the college.

Prior to his two-year stint with Kennedy, Mankiewicz served as an official in the Peace Corps, first, in 1961, as director of the program in Peru for two years and then as regional director for all Latin American programs of the agency.

He received his A.B. degree from UCLA in 1947, his M.S. from Columbia in 1948 and his law degree from the University of California at Berkeley in 1955. From 1956 until he joined the Peace Corps, Mankiewicz practiced law in Beverly Hills.

Always active in politics, Mankiewicz attended the Republican convention in Miami last year as an NBC correspondent. His view of the convention: "Mr. Nixon's choice of Agnew for vice president was an attempt to get even with those who had been saying he had no sense of humor." He was also on hand for the Democratic convention in Chicago, this time as a delegate from California, and as a key aide to Sen. George McGovern. "I was lucky to get out alive" he said of that experience.

In addition to his syndicated column, Mankiewicz also is a political commentator for the Group W Broadcasting Company. As to his political philosophy, he presents a view of the future of American politics that is "modern, uncommitted to any dogma and determined to distinguish between 'old myths and new realities.'"

Admission to the 8 p.m. lecture in the Campbell auditorium, will be by ticket only. Tickets may be obtained through the Office of Community Services, located at 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, room L-26. Further information is available at that office, phone 379-1733, ext. 58.

Adult Education pre-enrollment opens Sept. 10 at fairgrounds

Ever wished you knew how to braid rugs?

Have you ever had a yen to delve into a foreign language, or study ancient history, or human relations or anthropology?

Would you like to understand the stock market? real estate? computers?

Would you like to rejoin the work force, but are hesitant that your skills are not "up-to-date"?

Are you a fairly good women's seamstress who'd like to try your hand at men's tailoring?

Would you believe that all those courses and over 220 others are available to you?

With the addition of the Milpitas Unified School District to the already combined districts of Campbell, Santa Clara, San Jose, and Eastside, Metropolitan Adult Education Program (MAEP) has added and enriched it's fall program, so that adults living in any of these districts may enroll (when space is available).

Although most classes are conducted in the evening because of the availability of facilities, this fall more daytime classes have been added, many expressly for the housewife.

Local centers include Blackford, Campbell, Camden, Del Mar, Prospect and Westmont High Schools, as well as the Congregational Church, the Country Woman's Club, Westgate Convalescent Home, Good Samaritan Hospital and Branham and Bret Harte Schools.

For instance, classes at Campbell High include world history, U.S. history, American government, sociology, upholstery, math, algebra, English, driver safety, P.E., literature, clothing, woodworking and business machines.

At Camden, there is folk music, Spanish, business courses, and a whole series on a special business certificate program.

Prospect High this year will host a class in men's tailoring, arts and crafts, first aid, income tax help, and creative writing.

Many other classes are available. The guide to the classes is a 20-page tabloid mailed recently to every householder in the five school districts, listing all the classes, breaking them down by centers and including a brief description of most of them.

In addition, the Exposition Hall at the county fairgrounds will be taken over by adult education on Wed., Sept. 10 from 6 to 10 p.m., so that prospective "students" might pre-enroll in the courses of their choice.

Royce Hubin, past president of the adult education department's student senate, was recently quoted as calling adult education the best bargain around. Said Hubin, "Adult education today serves the needs of almost every citizen and ... does so at a cost far less than most people realize." Hubin referred to the $1.50 student fee which allows the student to take an unlimited number of adult education courses.

Also available is a counseling service for adults who wish to obtain their high school diploma — something which 500 adults did in the program last year.

Campbell residents may obtain additional information about the programs from the Campbell adult education center, 379-8550.

Answer: First two men triple and are out at the plate trying for an inside-the-park homer . . . Next man triples and stays at third . . . Next two men get infield singles with the runner holding third ...Last man smacks a ground ball that hits runner going from first to second . . . Batter gets credit for a hit, but runner is out, making three triples, three singles, three outs . . . and no runs!

All district schools to open Wed., Sept. 10

Campbell school bells will ring Wednesday, Sept. 10 for all Campbell school children, public and parochial, with the exception of the West Valley Seventh Day Adventist School which will open Monday, Sept. 8 for 160 children. Eight teachers will be employed in the first through eighth grade school.

For the first time St. Lucy's school will also follow the public school calendar with 366 children enrolled in the first to eighth grade school. St. Lucy's is now receiving federal aid under the Title One program, which enables the school to employ Mrs. Anna Mae Miller as a full time teacher.

The new program will also mean that the school will observe the same holiday schedule as public schools and will not close in observance of religious days.

The West Valley College students will resume classes on Sept. 10 with student registration starting Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Moreland School District students will also resume class schedules Sept. 10 with approximately 9500 pupils expected in the 16 schools in the district. L. Keith Clawson has been appointed vice-principal of the Castro Jr. High School and Wesley Coburn, former vice-principal of the George Payne school is now principal.

In the Union School District 10,800 students will be answering the school bells in 17 schools, but a sharp increase in enrollment may be seen during the next few months with the completion of several new subdivisions of four and five bedroom homes. Two new schools are tentatively on the drawing boards to take care of the expected increases. George Perazzo has been appointed to the position of assistant supervision.

The Metropolitan Adult Education has scheduled enrollment at the Santa Clara County Fairgrounds on Sept. 10 with classes starting Sept. 11 and 12.

THE OWLS ARE STILL LOOKING--Final judging on the Campbell Business Beautification contest will be held Sept. 10. In the meantime the Campbell Owls are still looking over the final selections with an eye to making the awards. In the above picture, E. A. Saville of the San Tomas Drug Store, entertains Owls Rose Gomes, June Bothman and baby owl Michael Kennedy in a recent inspection of the San Tomas Shopping Center premises.

Final judging on Campbell business beautification ends Sept. 10

Final judging on the Campbell business beautification contest will take place on Sept. 10 with six businesses to be in the running for the final award.

During the last few weeks teams of hard working women have been judging all the Campbell businesses for the contest and all forms are now in and being processed for the final judging.

Approximately 30 to 35 women have been involved in the preliminary judging and have been members of the Campbell Business and Professional Women's Club. the Campbell Country Woman's Club, the Campbell Women's Service Club, the Campbell Garden Club, the Campbell JayCettes and members of the Community Relations committee from the Pacific Telephone Co.

The judges for the final selection have not been announced, although the Sunset Magazine has indicated that they will probably be able to send a staff member.

As part of the current beautification program, recommendations will be sent to the businesses as to how they can improve their business's appearance and make their establishment more pleasing to the cusomter's eyes.

Announcement of the winner of the contest will be made at the Sept. 25 Chamber of Commerce meeting according to Mrs. Jean Kennedy and Lou Ybarra, Sherwin-Williams Paint Store manager, chairman in charge of the beautification drive.

New owners take over Lee Bros.

"We're going to bring Campbell a whole concept of merchandising and community relations".

That's how Jim Erlandson, public relations specialist for the Key Markets of Redwood City, described his company's first business venture in Campbell. The firm will take over the operation of the Lee Bros. Market here on Winchester Blvd. at Latimer in the Campbell Shopping Center.

Eight to ten other Lee Bros. Markets from Burlingame to Los Gatos are also in the process of being absorbed into the relatively new Key Markets group, Erlandson said.

Campbell's Lee Bros. Market has been in operation since the Campbell center was established in 1956.

The change of name to Key Markets is expected to take place shortly, together with a complete re-arrangement and remodeling of the building to meet the display and merchandising plan adopted as a standard design for all Key Markets.

THIS IS "CAPTAIN KEY"—Cartoon symbol of Key Markets that will be a regular weekly feature in the store's promotion.

Each of the other Lee Bros. Markets, from Los Gatos to Burlingame, will also be coordinated into the Key Markets unique floor plan, Erlandson said.

Among the immediate changes to be made in the store here will be a complete revision of the meat department. The new store will feature only nationally advertised brands and the most highly regarded grades of meats, including choice beef and veal, poultry, pork and ham, plus a complete selection of fresh and frozen fish and sea foods.

Among the many innovations planned for the local market will be a new concept of service geared to the comfort and convenience of women shoppers, Erlandson said.

"We're going to treat our women customers like ladies," he continued, "They won't have to wait or ask for assistance to their cars—this will be provided automatically and instantly when she completes her purchases".

The personalized service feature of the store will be carried out in a community relations program too, Erlandson said.

"We're going to stress community Awareness among our employees and in our general over-all store policy. Participation will be a "key" word to Key personnel, not only in the store but in community activities", he continued. "The Key Way - a complete concept" is how Erlandson described their ultimate goal.

Key Markets originated with the parent store, Rory's Market at Meridian and Hamilton Avenues in San Jose. Their second store, also the first to carry the "Key Markets" name is on Upton Street in Redwood City.

The new stores are spearheaded by a group of young men who have worked together for the past six years to build a competitive high quality market organization.

NEW OWNERS --- Lee Bros. Market in Campbell Shopping Center will soon become a member of the KEY MARKET chain.

Eastfield needs furniture for childrens home

Eastfield, the Campbell-located home for emotionally handicapped children, today sent out a call for the donation of furniture for the 251 Llewellyn Ave. cottages for boys and for girls.

Chesterfields and chairs are especially needed, according to Mrs. Ronald Rimkus, a member of the board. Other needed items are twin bed spreads, blankets and big pillows on which children can sit.

Donors may take the contributions to the Eastfield Office or may call Mrs. Rimkus, 377-0978. Receipts for the value of the donation will be given for tax purposes.

Eastfield is a United Fund Agency for children of Santa Clara County.

CHP urges motorists to watch out for inexperienced walkers

"Be on the look-out for inexperienced walkers when school opens", Captain R. P. Bliss of the California Highway Patrol urged drivers this week.

"We know that inexperienced drivers have more accidents than experienced drivers," Captain Bliss said. "Inexperienced walkers have problems, too. Kindergarten and first grade students are starting one of the greatest adventures of their lives when they set off for school. Watch out for them on the road."

Captain Bliss suggested that parents help young students with a period of safety training before school starts.

"Teach your youngster to cross only at intersections. Teach him to obey crossing guards. Instruct him about traffic signals. Teach him to use sidewalks whenever they are available and to walk facing traffic if he must use the shoulder of the roadway. Tell him how long it takes an automobile to stop. Even very young children can understand the dangers of darting across the road in traffic, if the problem is explained," he said.

"The responsibility for student safety is shared by many people: the pupil, his family, the school district, traffic safety engineers, crossing guards, school officials and drivers."

"The California Highway Patrol is particularly concerned with the drivers," the Patrol official said. "The speed limit is 25 miles per hour when passing a school building or school grounds while children are going to or from school during opening or closing hours and during the noon recess period. When the school grounds are not separated from the highway by a fence, the 25 miles per hour limit applies whenever the grounds are in use by children and the highway is posted with a 'SCHOOL' warning sign.

Children on school buses become pedestrians as soon as they alight from a bus. The driver of any vehicle which meets or overtakes a school bus from either direction must stop immediately before passing the bus if it is displaying a flashing red light signal. (It is not necessary to stop when the school bus is in the opposite lanes of a divided highway or when the stopped bus is not flashing its lights.)

All vehicles must follow directions of school crossing guards and junior traffic patrols, the CHP officer said.

POTATOES

Potatoes were introduced to North America about 1719 but their acceptance was very slow and it wasn't until 1840 that they were included in the U. S. farm census.

WVC course for dietitians

The Thursday evening class will have noted authorities speak on such topics as tube feedings, diet and pediatrics and diabetes and diet. Speakers are experienced dietitians and members of the medical staff at Stanford University Hospital and Medical Center.

The course will not be offered for college credit, but registration credits of 24 clock hours may be obtained from the California Dietetic Association by attending all sessions.

Registration for the course, including a $7.50 fee, must be made through the Office of Community Services, Room L-26, 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell. Limited enrollment will be on a first come, first serve basis. Further information may be obtained by calling that office at 379-1733, ext. 58.
